

Coaching the Van Driver Course 3

*This course does not include behind-the-wheel training.

Many organizations mistakenly assume that driving a van is no different than driving a car and expect employees (or volunteers) to assume van-driving responsibilities without any training. Most commercial vans are vastly different than passenger cars -- they are bigger, heavier, have larger blind spots, and require longer following and stopping distances.

Topics included:

- How to control your vehicle
- Traffic situations
- Vehicle inspection

Training drivers to compensate for these differences can help keep them on the road, on the job and reduce claims.
